The dietary issues faced by modern individuals

Insufficient nutrition, yet over weight

Excess belly fat, Facial puffiness, and Sagging

Environmental pollution and food contamination

High-carb diets with imbalanced nutrition

Consumption of processed foods

High work-related stress, leading to binge eating

Lack of physical activity

Inadequate intake of fruits and vegetables

Toxins are profoundly impacting our health.
Don't let your body become a haven for toxins.

According to the US National Institute of Health, over 50% of cancer-related factors are linked to environmental toxins and pollution.

Nuclear Waste

Soil and water pollution from Nuclear waste, leading to radioactive Contamination in crops.

Radon Gas

Present in all rocks and soil, found in residential and workplace settings.

Consumer Products & Building Materials

Industrial equipment, processed building materials containing varying levels of uranium, thorium, and other radioactive substances.

Cigarettes

Apart from nicotine, cigarettes contain polonium and lead.

Non-ionizing Radiation

the combined effects of devices like mobile phones, computers, and microwaves can lead to chronic inflammation.

Food And Water Sources

Pollution of oceans, soil, and water sources resulting in food contamination.

Benzopyrene

A primary carcinogen found in grilled meats.

Nitrosamine

A highly toxic substance present in long-preserved leafy greens, oil-fried sausages, cured meat, and bacon.

Aflatoxin

Produced by molds in moldy grains such as rice, legumes, and peanuts, it's the most potent known carcinogen.

What is radioactivity?

Radiation is an invisible, odorless substance that can interfere with cells, cause genetic mutations, and lead to various diseases and cancers.

The discharge of Fukushima nuclear wastewater into the sea is feared to cause contamination of marine products and ecosystems.

With the accumulation of toxins, how can health be secure?

A silent crisis poses a significant health threat

"Switch" to a different diet

"Restore" a toxin-free environment
for the body

Apple Pectin - A Natural Toxin Magnet

---

The crystalline molecular structure of apple pectin has strong molecular adsorption properties. Its anionic characteristics act like a magnet, attracting positively charged toxins, radiation, and heavy metals. These substances are then bound with bile and excreted from the body.

Apple pectin's anti-radiation benefits

Cesium-137 (Cs-137) is an isotope of the metal cesium, a byproduct of nuclear reactions, and falls under ionizing radiation. It can harm human tissues, nerves, and cell conduction.

Russian scientists have confirmed through multiple experiments that apple pectin is the most effective Cs-137 remover. It can be used for daily radiation protection and the removal of radioactive substances from the human body

Apple pectin's heavy metal removal benefits

Heavy metals have a cumulative negative impact, and even low doses of mercury and lead, when combined, can be highly toxic. Therefore, regular removal of heavy metals from the body is crucial.

Apple pectin can adsorb heavy metals such as mercury, arsenic, lead, chromium, and more. In a study involving children, it was found that apple pectin significantly reduced lead concentrations in the serum. (The lead levels. Althern Ther Health role of pectin as an effective chelator of lead in children hospitalized with toxic Med.2008 Jul; 14(4): 34-8)

AFA - Natural Cellular Purifier

A potent detoxifier.

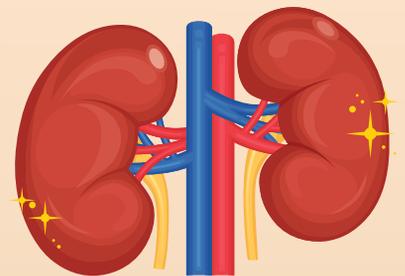

High-quality and high-content AFA phycocyanin can directly enter the cells of the human organs, open cellular pathways, neutralize toxins, and eliminate them. It interrupts the damage caused by “toxins” to the human body and restores the normal function of various systems. AFA is also highly effective in removing heavy metals such as mercury and cadmium.

Abundant free radical scavengers and antioxidants

Phycocyanin, flavonoids, cysteine, cysteine, and methionine are all staunch defenders against free radicals in AFA, effectively clearing accumulated free radical toxins in the body.

NAC - Liver and Lung Toxin Cleanser

Chronic obstructive pulmonary disease is the most common chronic respiratory disease in the world, associated with abnormal inflammatory reactions to toxic particles or gases (such as cigarette smoke).

Studies have shown that N-acetylcysteine (NAC) can improve the symptoms of patients with acute exacerbations of chronic obstructive pulmonary disease.

ALA - Alpha-Lipoic Acid: Cellular Defender

A versatile antioxidant, ALA helps neutralize harmful free radicals, which are unstable molecules that can cause oxidative stress and damage cells.

ALA has been proven to enhance the function of other antioxidants (such as vitamin C and E, glutathione, and coenzyme Q10).
